Academic Plans/Contracts are required for students who are not making satisfactory academic progress in accordance with federal guidelines. Academic Plans are intended to help students regain financial aid eligibility while keeping them on a direct path to graduation. By submitting this Academic Plan/Contract with your appeal, you are agreeing to follow the plan as written and successfully complete the courses as listed.

Your plan/contract will be monitored throughout the academic year to assist in determining your eligibility for financial aid. Failure to meet the conditions of the Academic Plan will result in you being ineligible for financial aid for the next period of enrollment (semester). Students who have appeals approved are placed on financial aid probation and must follow their Academic Plan to maintain their eligibility for financial aid, until they are back in good academic standing for financial aid purposes. Students on financial aid probation cannot change their major until they are back in good standing. Students who choose to change their major will have their aid terminated as a violation of their Financial Aid Academic Plan. The committee will assess all appeals based on documentation provided, as well as academic history. Students will be notified in writing of the committee’s decision. All appeal decisions are final.
